Fraser Scott Walker

In my capacity as NHS Consultant Maxillofacial Prosthetist I am responsible for the provision of regional services for Scotland. My service comprises of two laboratories employing 8 prosthetists and is the largest dedicated Maxillofacial Prosthetics service in the UK.

I have been in the field of Maxillofacial Prosthetics for 40 years and during this time have held the position of examiner for both Kings College London and Manchester Metropolitan University which provide training in the UK. In addition to my examining commitments I hold the position as honorary lecturer at the University of Glasgow.

I am an active member of the Institute of Maxillofacial Prosthetists and Technologists holding the post of Honorary Secretary and have been awarded fellowship of this institute.

I obtained an MSc (Med Sci) by research from the University of Glasgow for my work in craniofacial deformity correction which is my area of professional interest. I have published widely in peer reviewed journals on this subject.
